Submitting Your Documents to Scribd

Scribd is an online document sharing platform that combines social networking elements with online text file sharing.

When your documents are on Scribd, it's automatically search engine optimized and submitted to multiple platforms to help you get maximum exposure.

Here's how to submit your documents to Scribd.

Step 1: Select Upload a Document

When you land on Scribd's front page, you'll be presented with the "Upload a Document" button in the middle of the front page. Click that button to get started.

Step 2: Choose Your File

Select a document to upload. Scribd makes this process very intuitive by giving you several different uploading options.

You can upload via files, connect it to Google Docs, copy and paste the text or download Scribd's desktop uploader to upload files faster from your desktop.

Choose one of these options and select the file you want to upload.

Step 5: Verify Your Upload

At this point, your upload should be finished! If everything went well, you'll be taken back to your home screen which now has the document you just uploaded:

The screenshot displays the Scribd Archive interface. At the top, there is a yellow banner with the text: "The Scribd Archive. The Scribd Archive is a program that encourages users to give back to the Scribd community by uploading their own docs in order to download older documents. Downloaders may also choose to contribute a small fee for access to The Scribd Archive if they prefer. You can remove ALL of your documents from The Scribd Archive and prevent any of your future uploads from entering The Scribd Archive by opting out of the program completely in your Account Settings." Below the banner, the user's profile "funisanartform" is visible with navigation links for "My Home", "My Shelf", "My Info", and "My Stats". A search bar contains the text "Search my content...". The main section is titled "My documents" and includes a "Back to My Shelf" link. There are filters for "Show: All Documents", "Sort by: Date Published", and "Order: Descending". Below these filters, there are options to "Select: All, None" and "Action: Make Public | Make Private | Delete". A single document is listed: "How to Skip the Negotiation Process" with a thumbnail, "5 p.", "Public" status, "Category: None", "Reads: 0", and "Published: 12 / 28 / 2010". There are "Share" and "Add to Collections" buttons for this document. An "Edit" button is also present. At the bottom right, there are navigation arrows.

Click on the document to make sure everything is in order. Congratulations! You've just uploaded your first scribd document.
